

<To all examinees>

Measures to prevent the spread of COVID-19

In order to prevent the spread of the new coronavirus infection, the following points should be taken into consideration when taking the test.

- If you have any of the following symptoms, please consult your primary care physician at a medical institution or the "consultation center" (the name may differ depending on the region) in advance.
 - Strong symptoms such as shortness of breath (dyspnea), strong fatigue, high fever, etc.
 - Among examinees who are likely to become severe due to underlying diseases, etc., those who have relatively mild cold symptoms such as fever and cough.
 - Persistent relatively mild cold symptoms such as fever and cough

 - Because of the infection of COVID-19, those who are hospitalized on the day of the test or undergoing medical treatment at home or in an accommodation facility, those who were considered to be close contacts by the public health center just before the day of the test. Please be sure to contact us in advance.

 - Those who are in the isolation period after entering Japan are not allowed to take the test. Therefore, please check whether there is a waiting period and enter the country in plenty of time.

 - On the day before the test, (1) if you are eligible for PCR testing, (2) if you live with a close contact, or (3) if you live with a person is eligible for PCR testing, you may take the test in a separate room. However, there is no disadvantage in taking the test, so please contact the relevant person in advance.

 - For the first 2 weeks before the test day, record your temperature and any symptoms on the attached "Health condition confirmation sheet" and bring it with you on the day of the test. Please note that you may not be able to take the test if you forget to bring it with you.
- http://www.eng.nagasaki-u.ac.jp/english/contents/01_g_admission.html
- On the day of the test, all examinees are required to wear a surgical mask at the examination site except at lunchtime. Please note that you must cover your nose and mouth with the mask. If it is difficult to wear a surgical mask due to circumstances, please contact the contact person in advance.

 - In summer, the supervisor may instruct the examinees to remove a mask to prevent heat stroke.

 - If you have symptoms such as fever or cough on the day of the test, please report the symptoms to the supervisor or other relevant persons at the University promptly. Please note that your test may be conducted in a separate room depending on the fever and symptoms.

- On the day of the test, windows will be opened to ventilate the examination room. In winter, please bring warm clothing such as a jacket.
- The cafeteria and other facilities will not be open to the public for lunch, so please bring your lunch and eat quietly at your seat or any other places specified by the supervisor. In addition, you should avoid contact and conversation with others during break time and lunchtime, etc.
- During the test, the supervisor may instruct the examinee to remove the mask temporarily, for example, when confirming the photograph on the admission ticket for the test and the examinee's face. Please follow the instructions.
- Persons who are not taking the test are not allowed to enter the examination site on the day of the test. We ask for your understanding and cooperation.
- In order to prevent infection, the following measures should be taken: washing and sanitizing hands, cough etiquette, ensuring physical distance, avoiding the "three Cs", maintaining a balanced diet and proper exercise, and getting enough rest and sleep.